

SEEKING THE HEART OF CHRIST

Enlighten Our Hearts

Embracing good challenge. "This is the message we have heard from him and proclaim to you, that God is light and in God there is no darkness at all." 1 John 1:5

Light gives us life: our ecosystem depends largely on the light energy from the sun. Light gives us the ability to navigate – to see – by dispelling the darkness. Light also reveals truths that we would rather not see. (The harsh glare of a public bathroom light is enough to humble most any of us when we look in the mirror.)

When we ask for God to enlighten our hearts, we open ourselves to both painful and beautiful realities. We are confronted with our blind spots – with ways that we have hurt others – and yet we are wrapped in the beautiful promise that we are precious and beloved of God, blind spots and all. We have the promise that God shows us our blind spots not to shame us, but in order to help us grow wiser, kinder, better able to be in community and bless others. One way that we have called upon God to enlighten our hearts is through Adult Education. Last month we learned about human impact on the environment. February is Black History Month, and our Adult Education classes will honor that by shedding light on racism in our society and internalized within us.

We will also encounter some challenging passages from Scripture including blessings and woes. Let us embrace good challenge so that we may continue to grow up into Christ.

INTERIM INSIGHT: More than a change in Pastors

Even though the transition that St. Luke is experiencing was prompted by one Senior Pastor leaving and won't be over until a new Senior Pastor arrives, the transition is more than a change in pastors.

You, the people of St. Luke, are taking time to reflect on what is important to carry forward and what can and perhaps is best left off. You are getting used to having things done a little different or in ways that seem quite different depending on your position and perspective. You are taking time to grieve and to anticipate. You get the opportunity to confirm, reaffirm, adjust, modify, and set what is important to who St. Luke is and how it seeks to answer God's call.

The transition is about you – the congregation – the people who make up St. Luke. It's about tending to the matters that help you function at your full capacity. It's about becoming aware of your part in what makes St. Luke whole and healthy and vital and real. It's about considering what fills your collective heart with joy and satisfaction. It's about what your, as a community of faith, hopes are.

St. Luke is more than who the pastors are or what the pastors do. This is the time to look at ourselves and think about what makes us unique and what makes us work well and what do we think God might be calling us to do. Transition is the time, space and freedom to reflect on these things. This is about you – the PEOPLE of God at St. Luke Lutheran.

All this will help clarify what kind of person and pastor you will call as your next Senior Pastor. It will also help that next pastor know if you are the place God is calling them to share their gifts, abilities, and skills.

The more you put into this time of transition the more likely you will be able to find a pastor who fits well and the more prepared you will be for that pastor.

The Transition Team is inviting your input now and will engage you over the next 3-4 months. Please contribute your feedback to the questions they pose (see "Transition Team Invites Your Input" in this newsletter). Every response is important and appreciated.

The Season Of Transition

TRANSITION TEAM INVITES YOUR INPUT

The Transition Team is ready to gather and process input from the congregation. This is an important stage of the Transition to help the congregation come to a full and clear understanding of who they are and what they are called to do. This also puts St. Luke in a better position to know what kind of Pastor would fit with us.

Identity is foundational to our life and mission as a congregation. We want to build a consensus understanding of who St. Luke is by gathering input from as many of you as possible.

Part 1. The Transition Team invites you to give feedback on three questions about St. Luke's unique identity, along with some demographic information (no names). You can do this in several ways:

1. In person. Stop at one of the tables in the narthex following worship on Sunday, February 3 or 10. A pair of Transition Team members will listen to your responses and write them down.
2. At home. Pick up an Identity Questionnaire to fill out and bring back to church. Sheets will also be available at the same time as in #1 or stop by the church office to pick one up.
3. Online. Access the Identity Questionnaire at our website: stlukechurch.com.

Everyone's contribution will be equally important in this endeavor, and everyone's input will help give us greater clarity.

The Questions:

1. What brings you to St. Luke? What keeps you here?
2. What do you think is at the core of St. Luke's identity?
3. How do you see St. Luke in relationship to the community?

Part 2. After we have gathered this information, the Transition Team will summarize it and refine some clarifying questions for a round of gatherings later in February. Conversations will happen at tables in the Fellowship Hall. The Transition Team will document those conversations and summarize them in a format to be shared with the congregation.

This two-part process will be repeated in March-April with the focus on Mission/Vision.

The Results. When the Transition Team has completed its work by writing a report for the Council and Congregation, selection of a Call Committee will start. This will be toward the end of May or beginning of June. There will still be some input needed from the congregation as the call process begins. The work of the Transition Team, its findings and report, is intended to help the Call Committee in its work of finding the best match in a new pastor.

We hope you will take the time to provide us your thoughtful response—thank you!

ADULT EDUCATION IN FEBRUARY

Created in God's Image, All of Us: Facing Racism

February 3 – Grace Johnson leads us in discussion of Michelle Alexander's "The New Jim Crow", an eye-opening look at how the legal system – and in particular the "war on drugs" has been a tool for creating second-class citizens.

February 10 & 17 – Jon McCollom leads us in exploring what Race and Racism are, and how this impacts our lives. Please come with an open mind and an open heart: the subject and discussions will be challenging. We will use a mix of lecture, discussion, and media presentation. (Jon has a Bachelor's degree in Black Studies from Portland State University. This is a two-part session, so please plan to attend both and contact Jon at mccollom.jon12@gmail.com to get your Pre-Worksheet, which is required.

February 24 – Pastor Beth leads us in discussion of the article "Can 'White' People be Saved?" by Willie James Jennings, an overview of how race has influenced religion, creating the destructive elements in the Western worldview. We also explore where to go from here.

Thanks, and kudos to attorney Jaclyn Leeds and the Environmental Stewardship Team for enlightening our hearts and minds in January about environmental needs and dynamics in our world!
